EASTER LIFE!

“Do you have time for Easter?” The question was posed.

Oh yes, I’ll be at church on Sunday, I answered to myself... but then I realized he wasn’t talking about being at worship on that wonderful, holy day. He was talking about actually bringing Easter into our lives—claiming the resurrection, its power for love and meaning, letting it show in our daily living. I started considering what that would look like...you and me acting out the new (or renewed) courage resurrection-assurance brings, reflecting the victorious joy (despite the struggles of daily living), sharing our trust in God, through radical generosity and compassion... This could change lives!

Do we have time for Easter (or the will)? Let’s see how we might demonstrate its hope-filled, merciful, glorious significance to the world in these next months. We use Lent to prepare for Easter, not just for a roaring-good Sunday, but for the possibilities of its deep, disciple-strengthening, world-healing power that claiming its meaning and promise can bring...What will we be and do as Christ’s resurrection people? I’m excited to see!

Faith and Fitness Carries On

I watch my little-person marker move along the route to Haiti, there on the wall in Wesley Hall. I am thankful I have kept at my Lenten disciplines (albeit imperfectly!) and she has made it to Wichita. I put a “Thank You” offering in the wooden box today because I have finished a small goal, and read some amazing books, as part of my study commitment. In the “fitness” department I have made just a tiny bit of progress, but these continuing weeks from Easter to our finishing celebration at Pentecost (the end of the great 50 days) may be just the extra time I need to establish some good-health habits... How about you? And to help us keep at it, we’re getting our tee-shirts next Sunday! If you have completed your commitment to “The Balancing Act”, why not pick up another devotional book to help you keep growing. There are lots in our church library or maybe try starting daily reading of the Upper Room (found in the entrance rack). Let me know about any special things you have experienced in your “Faith and Fitness” journey. I love seeing all the little-people markers and knowing, in my individual work, I am part of a wonderful crowd of fellow travelers. Carry on, dear folk!

Providing For God's Blessing

After 5 years of trying to have a child, my husband and I decided to move on with our lives last summer. I cleaned out our baby room and gave all of our items to the Family Renewal Shelter rummage sale, including our crib, changing table, baby clothing, toys and a toddler bed. It took me a weekend and honestly felt like a relief.

You may not be surprised that we found ourselves pregnant in September. Our little boy is now 6 months along and we are facing the joyous reality of actually bringing home a baby in June.

All of this brings me to our plea. Does anyone have a crib we could use? If you'd like it back, we would certainly return it after a year. If you were planning to donate to this year's summer rummage, we would be happy to make our donation to the shelter early. As long as it's up to current safety standards, I'd adore it.

Do let me know if you have a crib in search of a good use.

Prayerfully,
Karrie Zylstra Myton

And Mary Poppins Was not Here!

What a special day it is when people join in to work together. Even though we were working in many different areas of the buildings and grounds, there was a special sense of community and accomplishment. And, of course, meeting at the refreshment table for our many "union" breaks was essential. Because of your commitment and dedication, cleaning needs were attended to in the kitchen, Wesley Hall, three bathrooms, Narthex, Sanctuary, courtyard, and front planting areas! Wow! Thank you Hollee Gossett, Krista Riccardi, Kylee Byrd, Marilyn Sieveke, Marilyn Johnson, Ashley Ellis, Kathy Skipper, Josh & Dian Field, Chris, Shane, & Kathy Lantz, Fred Koughn, Brandon Rogness, Serena Hedman-Burgmeier, David Burgmeier, Jerrie Isom, Norma Gale, Sherri Williams, Trevor & Jim Charest, Renee Hartloff, Laurie McGhee, Sarah Berndt, Pastor Ann Berney, Bill Rhodes, Lee Boulet, Pastor Shirley DeLarme, and whoever we forgot to mention who was also a special part of us.

News from our Missionaries in South Asia

When we were raising funds for Brad and Wendy Chamberlain a couple of years ago, we learned about the hymn writing project they coordinated. This was a way for Christians to compose hymns and choruses in their own language and music style. We recently received this story from the Chamberlains. Remember that CEDAR is the code word for the language group who are the focus of the translation project they are leading.

Brad writes:

“The CEDAR people have always had a few songs in their language. Old tunes about harvest and weaving, children’s rhymes, and the like. But they were few and dying out. Most songs are sung in the national language instead. Beginning in 2003, songs have been written in the language by a few of the Christians who make up less than 1% of the total population. Today there are over 60 Christian songs. And they are very popular. Not only have these songs spread to every known believer, but in some places they are being sung by many of the non-believers as well.

The uncle of one of the believers is a lay leader in the local Buddhist temple. On a rotating basis with others, he is responsible for going into the temple and leading the daily prayers and rituals which are required. He went in, opened his peccha (holy book) and began to chant the words. As his mind emptied and he continued to chant, the time went by. He was brought back to awareness, realizing that he had ceased chanting the prayer but was instead singing a Christian song based on the Lord’s Prayer. As he realized what he was doing he closed the peccha and ran from the temple in fear.

Soon after he met his nephew and told him of this experience. He asked his nephew, ‘What is happening to me? Am I going crazy?’ His nephew replied, ‘No, you are not crazy. Things are changing here. It is God’s time now. This is God’s time.’”

God’s time, indeed!

Annual Conference Pages June 17-20, University of Puget Sound

Because our Conference highly values the gifts and voices of young people, there are several ways youth and young adults are invited to participate in Annual Conference.

Pages (grades 8-12 at the time of their application) are those who help the voting members at Annual Conference by producing and delivering information to delegates, helping with voting, etc. Your housing and expenses are paid for by the Conference. We can accept applications for Pages through the end of May, or until we have 16 pages.

We also are in need of adults to help coordinate and chaperone youth pages and delegates. Please contact Patrick, 206.304.9284 · pscriven@pnwumc.org

April – Allergies

Allergies are unusual, irritating and potentially dangerous reactions of the immune system to a normally harmless substance. These reactions occur in about one out of every three people. They will attack the respiratory tract, digestive tract, skin or entire body, but the type and severity of the reaction will depend on the individual's level of sensitivity to the offending substance.

Whether an allergy is diagnosed through medical testing or the detective process of an individual, finding the source of the allergy is like solving a mystery. Be observant to symptoms and the activities leading up to them. Look for connections between a reaction and any changes in diet, environment, or product use. Different types of pollen are prevalent at different times of the year. Late morning and early afternoons have the higher pollen count. Since allergies can't be cured, it is important to determine and avoid the triggers for allergic reactions. Once diagnosed, treatment can begin and symptoms relieved.

Common allergen culprits include honey, nuts, peanuts, wheat products, strawberries, perfume, scented candles, mold, pollens, latex, grass, soaps or even medications. To help others:

- Avoid the use of perfumes and scented products which can bother asthmatics
- Label your food dish if it contains allergens like nuts or shellfish.
- Take non-latex balloons to the party

Little steps like these can go a long way to prevent someone's discomfort.

Chile Needs Prayer

I know that Haiti was devastated, but I think we should be aware that Chile is suffering too. They certainly have fewer people without housing, and less death to deal with, but they are still hurting.

This note is from one of the natives I met while on my trip to Chile. She is asking for prayers although she is fine herself.

We need your prayers. Pray please for our country. All occurred at South of Chile, I live at North of Chile, but we are not free of a earthquake or a tsunami. Hoping that you are very good. Blessings, Gerti

A New PUMC Ministry

“Home Improvement Ministry”

We have a new ministry here at PUMC called the PUMC Home Improvement Ministry. This ministry is being established to help out the members of our church who need yard work, repairs, improvements or minor remodels to their homes. This program is designed for a one time, not on-going, home improvement for those members who meet certain requirements. Once a qualifying recipient is established there will be an inspection for the improvements requested. A time will be set up for the work to be started. The work will be coordinated by Gary Hartloff and done by volunteer members of our church whenever possible through an on-line signup sheet. For those of our church who may not be able to physically help out, there will be a line on the sign-up sheet to donate funds to help cover the cost of materials or supplies needed to complete the task. The following are the qualifications for this program.

1. Members in good standing at PUMC.
2. Low income seniors 60 and older.
3. Low income, disabled members unable to do the work themselves.
4. Disabled and/or unable to do the work but have the funds to cover the cost of materials and supplies.
5. Owner occupied.
6. Home must qualify and be approved by Gary Hartloff or someone appointed by him.

If you meet the above qualifications and have a need for this service, please contact the church office as soon as possible to be added to the list for approval.
